FINANCIAL AID INFORMATION - Helpful Information Sheet

Financial Aid is funding awarded to individual students to help pay for education related expenses such as tuition, housing, books, and miscellaneous fees. Financial aid can come from individual colleges/universities; local, state, and federal governments; individuals; and private or public businesses and organizations. Financial aid can include need or merit-based scholarships, grants, loans, tuition waivers, and work-study programs.

Most need-based financial aid is determined through the completion of the federal Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Some colleges/universities may require additional financial aid forms. In addition, most need-based financial aid is awarded on a first-come, first-served basis; therefore, students should complete the FAFSA or other required forms as soon as possible. The FAFSA must be completed annually. Students should contact the financial aid office of the college/university in which they will attend for specific information or questions about their FAFSA or about their financial aid award/package.

Scholarships can be awarded based on merit, need, or a combination. Merit based scholarships are awarded based on a student's academic or other accomplishments such as athletics, leadership, talents, or etc. Need based scholarships are awarded based on a financial need. Grants are monies that usually do not need to be repaid. Loans can be government or privately sponsored. Tuition waivers would be awarded from the college/university. Work-study programs allow a student to earn money toward their educational expenses by working.

Additional Reminders:

- Seniors who have not ordered their cap and gown or announcements should contact the main office immediately.
- IMPORTANT: Make sure you put time and effort into the scholarship applications. This includes taking your time to answer essay questions, along with editing and revising before submitting.
